About Scottsdale and Bridport.

Scottsdale is a large country town in Tasmania's far north-east, and, just 20 minutes north, Bridport is a popular, beachside town on the north coast.

The rich, fertile soil in north east, combined with a climate characterised by warm summers and mild, wet winters, has made the towns and their surrounds perfect for farming and forestry industries. The region has an idyllic rural look to it, with the landscape typified by bright, green paddocks occupied by fruit and vegetable crops, dairy cows, and flower fields, all surrounded by stunning blue-grey mountains.

Scottsdale draws in tourists all year round, with Tasmanians, mainlanders, and international visitors keen to take long scenic drives through the famously beautiful landscapes of rural northern Tasmania, and see where some of the state's finest agricultural output is produced.

Bridport is very popular amongst holiday-makers, well known for its breathtaking ocean views, pristine beaches, fishing, and hiking and bushwalking opportunities.

Ochre Health's Scottsdale Doctor Surgery is an AGPAL accredited service, which has recently taken over a well-established medical centre in the town, which is currently expanding its workforce, and looking for new GPs.

The practice cooperates both with the local hospital (which it is located next to), and with a twin medical centre in the nearby coastal town of Bridport, just a 20 minute drive north.

It is a mixed-billing practice, with 5 consulting rooms, a 3-bay treatment room, a procedure room, and onsite pathology. It provides a wide range of medical services, including general practice, vaccinations, mental health and chronic disease management, antenatal shared care, emergency care, family planning, and general medical checks
